The Bournville Story - Bournville Village Trust

Wed, 05 Jun 2019 12:48:00 GMT

The Bournville Story Bournville Village Trust is about building and sustaining communities and not just houses. The aim has always been to build good quality houses and gardens for people of all kinds; with local shops, open spaces and community centres close to hand. Resident involvement also plays a crucial part.

Bournville is a tranquil village that seems a world away from the streets and skyscrapers of the city centre. Like Port Sunlight in Merseyside and Saltaire near Bradford, Bournville was designed as a model village. It was built by the Cadbury family from 1879, but contrary to popular belief, the village was conceived for people
